

MUTUAL FILMS "THE VAMPIRES"

Intensely Fascinating Detective Series Will Soon Be Seen on Screen.

Under the title of "The Vampires," the Gaumont company will release through the Mutual Film Corporation one of the most intensely fascinating detective series ever produced upon the American screen. "The Vampires" are a group of law breakers who have terrorized France, guided and directed as they are by a criminal of super-intelligence. The attempts of a young newspaper man to trap the gang, forms the thread of the thrilling continued story which will appear in the weekly installments of three reels each, beginning Thursday, November 23.

Sarah Bernhardt, who is the foremost member of her profession today, though approaching her seventh year, has evolved from her experience the following maxims for youth: Have one chief absorbing interest in life; have other little interests to keep from being one-sided; decide on essentials of life and concentrate on them; decide upon non-essentials and disregard them; be interested in things of the moment, but not too deeply; eat what you like, but not as much as you like; drink much water and lemonade; sleep whenever you are sleepy; rest for a minute many times a day; find your work, and look on it as a pleasure, not a penalty.

Thomas H. Ince offers the great star, William S. Hart, and an all star cast in "The Return of Draw Egan," in five acts at the Orpheum theater today and tomorrow. In "The Return of Draw Egan," Hart goes back to the type of part in which he is best loved, that of the western "bad man," quick on the "draw," with a chip on his shoulder, and later reformed through the love of a sweet girl whose innocence and purity become his greatest inspiration. He is shown in battle, in ambush and riding, as only he can ride, on his famous piebald broncho, and meeting out justice for a community and for himself when the villain who he once befriended tries to blackmail him. In a sense, it is a complete review of all the splendid qualities that have made him famous, written by the greatest photoplay dramatist, C. Gardner Sullivan. "The French Milliner," a two reel Keystone comedy is the added offering.

House Peters, who has just become connected with the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company, and Myrtle Stedman, the pretty screen artist, are to co-star in a forthcoming release on the Paramount Program under the Morosco trademark. The subject in which these two motion picture favorites will make their debut as co-stars is "The Happiness of Three Women," by Albert Payson Terhune, well known author of many prominent works in cluding the story upon which the current Lasky release "The Years of the Locust" was based.

"Who Killed Cornelia Alster?" This is the question that is being answered today at the Bijou theater by the picture play, "The Alster Case." It baffled the most skilled detectives and puzzles all spectators and keeps them keyed up with excitement and wonder until the end of the play. The grim finger of suspicion points at five persons. You are sure it is one, then another who has committed the crime. Then comes the great detourment revealing the real slayer. This gripping revelation comes as a startling surprise to all. Some of the stars playing in this picture are Bryant Washburn, Ruth Stonehouse, John H. Cozzar and Anne Leigh.

The feature attraction at the Grand today is a late William Fox production "Where Love Leads" starring Ormi Hawley. The added attraction is a late Pathe news.

Tomorrow, William Farnum will appear here for the first time in "The End of the Trail." Added tomorrow will be an episode of "The Crimson Stain Mystery" and the Paramount Bray cartoon.

A. H. Woods is to produce a play called "The Lost Soul" this season, which is by Frederick Maynard, who plays the roll barber in "Hit-the-Trail Holiday."

One of the season's most striking bits of characterization is that contributed to Edison's new five-part feature, "The Heart of the Hills," by Miss Marie LaCorio, who plays the part of a selfish vain young woman of the world who makes life miserable for the other members of her family.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready to use preparation prepared by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, prevention, or prevention of disease. Advertisement.

HE KILLS BIRD AND FOX WITH A SINGLE SHOT

PAWTUCKETT, R. I., Nov. 10.—The sportsmanship of an old red fox, combined with that of Harry C. Swift, of Attleboro, and assisted by a rather lazy woodcock, brought about the end of a perfect day here late Tuesday afternoon. The fox and the woodcock have crossed the great woodland divide, and Mr. Swift has discussed the manner of their crossing until his voice is low and husky.

Out of the ton of circumstances your correspondent draws the fact that Mr. Swift was shooting near Mimi pond soon after 2 o'clock Tuesday p. m. He had fair luck for a time and finally saw a little woodcock—the late woodcock, in fact—twittering. Mr. Swift waited; he does not shoot birds until they are on the wing.

It appears that creeping closer and closer and closer to the woodcock, even as Mr. Swift awaited its flight, was an old red fox with a sense of fair play. It, too, was waiting for the bird to attempt to fly.

COUPLE END LIVES AS A RESULT OF SUICIDE PACT

BENTON, Ky., Nov. 10.—Charles Brown and Elma Cope, who mysteriously disappeared from their homes here some time ago, were found dead beside each other in a nearby wood. Three bullet holes were in the young woman's body and one bullet had pierced Brown's heart. The couple had eloped previously, but were caught in Arkansas and brought back home. Brown leaves a widow and two children, his wife being a sister of the dead girl.

without in any way offending the rules of conduct prescribed for young women by Mrs. Grundy. The character, as portrayed by Miss LaCorio, is a type new to screen plays, refreshing, different from the "wayward" daughters and colorless ingenues with which we are so familiar. It marks Miss LaCorio as a personality of whom the film world is apt to hear much in the future.

More than 100,000 acres of nipa palms are in the Philippines, and the insular government is endeavoring to produce cheap sugar and alcohol from the sap.

A sheep may be sheared in four and a half minutes by machine, whereas it requires fifteen to do the work by hand.

ACUTE AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be said with equal truth that no remedy has been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. B. Schultze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that anti-kamnia tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headache, neuralgia and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.
